

Position: Production Worker – Seasonal

G3 Genuine Guide Gear Inc. (www.genuineguidegear.com) manufactures backcountry ski equipment and related products. Founded in 1996, G3 is now available in more than 20 countries and is widely known within the industry as an award winning and innovative design company. G3 continues to experience strong growth and needs talented Production Workers to help us produce products on time and cost effectively to meet growing sales targets.

G3's Purpose is to amplify our customers' exhilarating outdoor experiences. We do this through innovation and integrity and this reflects our deepest intentions. We reinforce these values with each other and our partners as they permeate everything we do. We treasure and thrive in a non-ego driven and work-life balanced environment and embody 'Above the Line' behavior at all times. If our values resonate with you, please consider this position.

Based at G3's head office in Burnaby BC, the Production Worker is diligent to ensure our products are assembled according to the planning schedule and in agreement with our high quality standards. This position does not require specific work experience, though successful candidates will be able to lift up to 40lbs, will have good manual dexterity and a positive, team-oriented attitude.

This position is anticipated to last at least six months, but permanent work is possible for the right individual. On-the-job training is paid; benefits will be available after a waiting period.

If you have a strong customer-service orientation, a solid command of both written and spoken English and a love of the outdoors, G3 may be the place for you!

To apply, please forward a cover letter and resume to hr@effectivehr.ca. Applications must quote "Seasonal Production" in subject line. We thank everyone for applying; however we will contact only those considered for an interview.
